

What Was Lost, Now is Found: Using Digital Repositories to Rebuild What Hurricane Rita Destroyed

Rebecca Blakeley
McNeese State University

This presentation is on SlideShare for your viewing pleasure:

<http://www.slideshare.net/reblakeley/slideshows>

Google Book Search

<http://books.google.com>

For finding Federal docs, use Advanced Search, and in the Publisher field, type in Govt , GPO , "Government Printing Office" or "gov. print. off." You can also search by agency, (i.e. "Department of the Interior") by typing the name of the agency in the Author field. Also try a search for "United States" OR U.S. in the author field.

For finding state docs, use the advanced search and plug in the name of the state, and try state OR department OR agency. Or you could simply enter the name of the state agency in the Author field, i.e. "Louisiana Supreme Court".

MSU Gov Docs Google Books Library

<http://tinyurl.com/4z6cf5>

"Creating Gov Doc 'Libraries' in Google Books" FGI Blog Post by Rebecca Blakeley

<http://freegovinfo.info/node/1689>

"Google Book Search treats government documents as copyrighted material"

<http://prelingerlibrary.blogspot.com/2006/02/google-book-search-treats-government.html>

"An Open Letter to Google..."

<http://noattention.blogspot.com/2007/04/open-letter-to-google-william-patry-and.html>

"Google Books/Fed Docs" series of FGI blog posts by Julia Tryon

<http://freegovinfo.info/blog/156>

"Google Books: What's Not to Like?" by Robert Townsend

<http://blog.historians.org/articles/204/google-books->

Internet Archive

<http://www.archive.org>

MSU Gov Doc Internet Archive Bookmarks

<http://www.archive.org/bookmarks/reblakeley>

USA Government Documents Collection on Internet Archive
<http://www.archive.org/details/USGovernmentDocuments>

American Libraries Collection on Internet Archive

<http://www.archive.org/details/americana>

Contains many state, local, and some federal government documents.

“Internet Archive” FGI Blog Post by Rebecca Blakeley

<http://freegovinfo.info/node/1748>

Open Library (Internet Archive Initiative)

<http://www.openlibrary.org>

Contains some federal, state, and local government documents – mainly from Internet Archive but viewable in a unique “turn the page” format!

Registry of U.S. Government Publication Digitization Projects

<http://registry.fdlp.gov/>

Mostly federal, but you can find some wonderful state and local digital collections featured in the registry (i.e. “Utah’s Most Elusive: Hard-to-Find Government & Scientific Reports” or “Oklahoma Crossroads”).

Project Gutenberg

<http://www.gutenberg.org>

Not too many state or local docs found! Mostly Federal.

Author search for “State”, “Agency”, “Department”, or “U.S.” etc.

Advanced search: Full text search for “Government Printing Office” etc.