

Historical Books @ Your Fingertips:
Using Google Books & Internet Archive to Discover, Collect, and Share Digitized Public Domain Books

Rebecca Blakeley
McNeese State University

This presentation and handouts are available online for your viewing pleasure at:
<http://msugovdocsdept.pbwiki.com/Conference-Presentations> (click on "LOUIS Users Conference")

Google Book Search

<http://books.google.com>

Google Book's Advanced Search

http://books.google.com/advanced_book_search

Select "Full View Only" to view and download full-text books

Linking to a specific Google Book title

<http://books.google.com/support/bin/answer.py?answer=80658>

Linking to a specific title, author, query, or subject in Google Books

<http://books.google.com/support/bin/answer.py?answer=47576>

The trick to finding government documents, is how you search. First, go to the Advanced Search screen and then try out these tips for searching:

- For finding Federal docs, type in your keyword search terms and in the Publisher field, type in GOVT, GPO, "Government Printing Office" or "gov.print.off." You can also search by agency (i.e. "Department of the Interior") by typing the name of the agency in the Author field. Also try a search for "United States" OR U.S. in the author field.
- For finding State docs, type in your keyword search terms, the name of the state, and where it says "Try at least one of these words", plug in the terms state department agency. Or you could simply enter the name of the state agency in the Author field (i.e. "Louisiana Supreme Court").

MSU Gov Docs Google Books Library

<http://tinyurl.com/4z6cf5>

"Creating Gov Doc 'Libraries' in Google Books" FGI Blog Post by Rebecca Blakeley

<http://freegovinfo.info/node/1689>

Blakeley, Rebecca. "What Was Lost, Now Is Found: Using Google Books and Internet Archive to Enhance a Government Documents Collection with Digital Documents." DttP. Documents to the People, Vol. 37 No. 3, Fall 2009.

Internet Archive

<http://www.archive.org>

MSU Gov Doc Internet Archive Bookmarks

<http://www.archive.org/bookmarks/reblakeley>

American Libraries Collection on Internet Archive

<http://www.archive.org/details/american>

USA Government Documents Collection on Internet Archive

<http://www.archive.org/details/USGovernmentDocuments>